

The Life Cycle of Sin James 1:15

Every man is tempted when...

He is drawn away by his own lust

Enticed (trapped, seduced, entangled and a slave to)

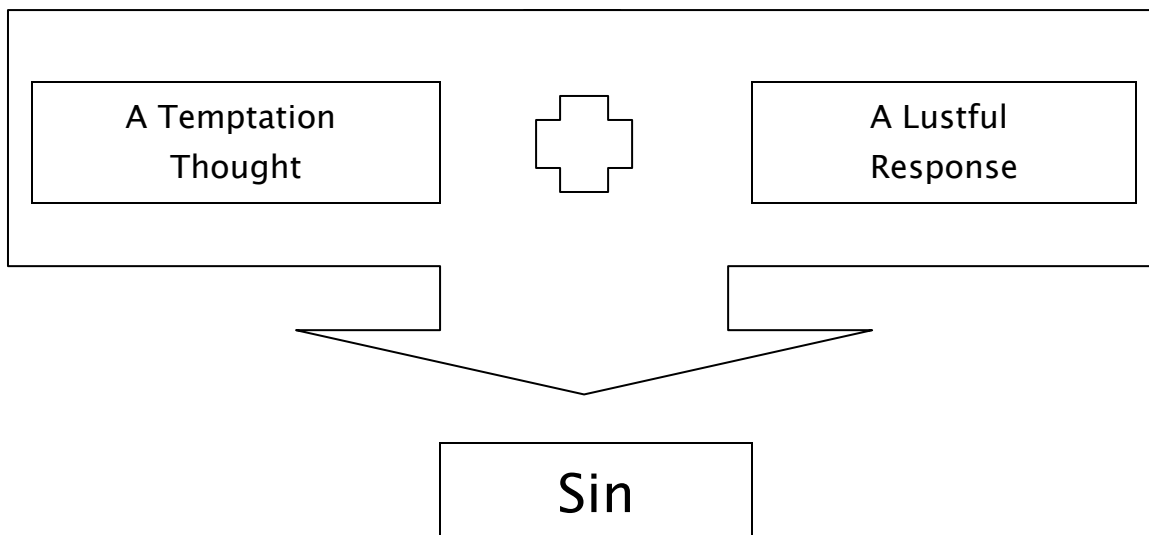

The lust conceives and grows to sin

The lust then gives birth to sin

The sin then brings about death

For sin to occur, there needs to be a temptation thought and a lustful response combining. If one aspect is dead, then no conceiving of sin can take place. It is a thought from without that combines with an response from within that produces sin.
